ROWLAND RELEASED TO SETTLE

With the characteristics of his life written on his countenance and a cigarette between his lips, young George Rowland, the painter sport and allround good fellow was arraig ed before Squire Watkins last evening to answer a charge of obtaining money under false pretense. Young Rowland according to stories has been leading a life entirely too swift for his modest income which made it necessary for him to call in some outside capital. The young man was charged by Smith and Shambaugh with collecting money and applying it to his own account which belonged to the firm. Pierce Johnson was the chief witness. According to the evidence the above firm sold material for painting the Star cafe to young Rowland on the credit of Mr. Johnson the owner but the latter was not apprised that Rowlandst credit was not good. Hence the paint was charged to Mr. Johnson without his knowledge and when Rowland had finished painting the room he was paid both for the labor and the material and Mr. Johnson was given a receipt in full. The bill for the paint was later mailed to Pierce Johnson which led to the act of Rowland being discovered. He was found at West Newton and brought here last night. He offered a settlement and was released in charge of a constable until he made the necessary arrangement.

Curb Market to Soon Open

Charleroi's curb market will be opened Saturday, June 15th, and it is said a large number of Washington county farmers have already signified the intention of having produce on hand the first day, just to see how it works, and if everything moves along smoothly, Tuesday the next or second market day will be a big one, as much green stuff will be in demand on account of the hundreds of people to be entertained during the week of the big Sunday school convention. Both farmers and housewives are looking forward to much success for the curb market.

CHRISTIANS GO DOWN AT HANDS OF BAPTISTS

Out hitting their opponents but playing a ragged fielding game the Christians went down to their fourth successive defeat last evening when the Baptists trimmed them by a score of 4 to 3. An eleventh hour rally by the Christians just barely fell short of the mark. They scored 3 runs and gave the Baptists an awful scare.

The Christians scored their three runs in the final round when Dauvin walked and stole second, Nelson walked, Dale scored Dauvin with a single, Scott scored Nelson and Dale with a two base drive to left. Pilette then grounded out to first ending the game. In the third the Baptists scored when Myers was hit, stole second and scored when S. Stahl threw to middle field to catch the runner. In the following inning errors by Pilette, Yeaton and Nelson allowed Wagoner to score. A hit and three errors were responsible for the remaining two Baptist runs.

OFFICIALS GET TANGLED OVER FIRE LIMITATIONS

Other Business of Importance Transacted at the Regular Meeting at the Borough Building Last Night

Last night was the regular monthly meeting of council. All members except W. P. Wilson and Frank Kent were present. J. J. Cushing was chosen chairman for the evening. The bills, petitions etc., were disposed of with dispatch. A number of ordinances were passed on first and second reading.

An action by Burgess Reamer in stopping the Eggers Lumber company from constructing a building on Donner avenue was questioned by Mr. Eggers, he being present in person to ascertain where council stood in the matter. Mr. Eggers explained that he had proceeded according to the ordinance governing building, and had been granted a permit and that he had in no way violated the agreement, but that the burgess had ordered him to stop the work. Chairman Cushing asked Mr. Reamer for an explanation and he replied, that the building was not according to the permit signed by himself and the committee. This statement brought forth a discussion between the two men and it was necessary for a call to order. The matter was then placed before the house and after an examination of the plans and a few word of explanation from Mr. Eggers a motion was unanimously passed that council stand by the permit as originally issued and that Mr. Eggers be allowed to proceed with the consent of council.

Several estimates of the Hallam Construction company were presented and a warrant was authorized drawn for settlement.

E. Jeffries was present and protested the right of council to grant the railroad company privilege to lay a siding on the alley in the rear of the Hagerson and Dague building to the detriment of other property owners in the square. Mr. Jeffries spoke convincingly of the value of an alley in the rear of his property and appealed to council to proceed cautiously in the matter. The streets and roads committee was instructed to meet with all property owners on the ground and make a report of the findings.

An adding machine was purchased for the clerk at a cost of $275.00.

The Park Way matter was brought up but was held over until another meeting at which the engineer will have a report. The clerk was instructed to notify all property owners where sidewalks are dilapidated to put them in shape in keeping with the recommendation of the complaints committee of the board of trade. Council adjourned to meet at the call of the chair.

MONESSEN HAS FINEST RESORT IN VALLEY

Surroundings in general about the Mikalarias & Berbatis confectionery and ice cream parlor, corner Donner avenue and Fifth street have been touched up in such a manner as to make the place almost unrecognizable to one who has not paid the place a visit this season. In truth it's just like going into fairyland, so nicely have the parlors been arranged and decorated. The spacious ice cream parlor has been, arched, redecorated with vines, flowers and thousands of electric lights, and with music, cooling fans and a profusion of palms, it affords the most cozy and refreshing a place to rest and regale oneself to be found in town. So greatly has the business of Messrs. Mikalarias & Berbatis increased since the spring season opened that changes were found necessary, consequently two large new ice cream making machines have been installed along with other modern and sanitary machinery, making this one of the most complete and up-to-date confectioneries in the valley. Everything is neat, and the stock of confections, gums etc., are of the freshest and best in the market. The service is the best to be had, special care being taken to have patrons receive every possible courtesy when good, pure, fresh, cooling refreshments or confections are sought, Mikalarias' & Berbatis' is the place to find them.

The Great June Frost

Did you ever hear the older people—your grandfathers and grand mothers—talk about the "Great June Frost?" Well it was just fifty-three years ago Wednesday morning—June 5th, 1859—that that frost occured, and many's the time we've heard the story told. It just killed every green thing. Peach trees were in bloom, as were cherries, apples, plums, etc., and much of the early fruit had taken form. Early corn and potatoes were pretty well up and the frost burned everything to a crisp. It was so heavy that it was almost likes now. This great frost extended over Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Eastern Ohio, and not during all the years since has there been a frost so late in the spring which so thoroughly destroyed the products of field and garden. Even this spring we've listened to so many pessimistic predictions, that we've almost live in fear and trembling lest a similar and equally dire disaster as the "Great June Frost" might overtake us. Some offering predictions on the fruit crop for 1912 have said that "strawberries will be alright if the frost holds off and the rains come soon enough." "Cherries are far from perfect many being blackened and a late frost would just kill them all." "Plums are falling off, worm affected," "apples—well, there were scarcely any blossoms from the early frosts, and we do hope there won't be a late frost to kill them all, for you know there can be no apples without bloom." But the pessimist is ever abroad, and we can only hope his prognnstications will prove nil.

The Senate has passed the eight-hour bill, which had already passed the House, by a vote of 45 to 11. The measure requires that every contract made in which the United States is a party shall contain a provision that no mechanic or laborer shall be permitted to work more than eight hourse in any one day. A penalty of $5 is imposed for every violation of the provision. It is only a slight modification of the bill which has been in force for a number of years but it's expected to be more effective, as no contractor, not even Uncle Sam, could afford to pay a fine of $5 a day for every laborer he worked over eight hours.

A recent court decision says: "A pedestrian has the right to presume that persons in charge of cars or other vehicles will use ordinary care to avoid injuring him and to govern his conduct accordingly." That sounds like good common sense, but while the pedestrian has some rights while crossing or re-crossing streets the quicker he waives his rights and gets back on the sidewalk the better for him.

What we desire and have a right to expect from the Chicago convention is a genuine Republican platform, one that stands squarely on every issue and makes itself clearly and emphatically understood. Then whoever is nominated, be it Taft, Roosevelt, or a compromise candidate, we should all get into the harness and see that he is elected by an old-fashioned majority. The party and its principles are a thousand times more important than the man.

Agitation is all right; it is as necessary for the preservation and the improvement of society as the winds are to the sea. Nevertheless it is not necessary for us all to be in sympathy with every new-fangled notion brought to the front.

A Massachusetts judge decides that a woman can wear a skirt as long as she pleases. Huh, many a woman has been compelled to wear a skirt longer than she pleased, because her husband failed to come forth with sufficient money to buy a new one.

Again we take off our hats to Greene county. The jail is without a prisoner and criminal court opened without a single case. So much for Little Greene. It certainly must be the intellectual giant of the state.

Case to Go to Court

The case of Charles Wilhelm, against the Pittsburgh Coal company, before Judge McConnell, in Greensburg is about ready for the jury.

The Wilhelm case is from Rostraver township and the plaintiff asks for damages from the coal company for injuries to his land caused by the removing of coal, and for streams that were diverted by reason of the mining of the coal.

WEDDING AT BIJOU DREW RECORD CROWD

Possibly the largest crowd ever assembled at any playhouse in Monessen at any time and for any purpose was that of last night at the Bijou theatre to witness the marriage of Mr. Andrew Biles of Donora and Miss Helen Green of Monongahela.

The ceremony was performed about 10:40—immediately after the last picture reel was run—by the "Rev." Squire . Beall of Belle Vernon, in the presence of such a crowd that there was not even breathing room. Not only was the house packed, but the crowd formed a solid mass of humanity clear across the street, where doorsteps, porches and windows were crowded with anxious gazers. Even in the rear of the Bijou the alley way was crowded, the telegraph poles and freight cars being full of people trying to get a glimpse of the proceedings. Although there was a jolly crowd, the ceremony was attended by all the solemnity which the occasion merited, and the good Brother from Belle Vernon tied the knot up brown and good and tight. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Biles received hearty hand shakes from friends and filed up the aisle where they were showered with rice by the jolly crowd. They left late last night for a short honeymoon trip, after which they will be at home to friends in Monongahela. Mr. Biles has been employed by Mr. T. B. Cowan for two years as machine operator and engineer at the Bijou theatre and has many warm friends in Monessen. Many are the good wishes that accompany the newly married couple

Even the Dogs are Doing It

Brakeman Jim Hantz, who resides in Westmoreland City, reports witnessing a most peculiar canine murder. While he was flagging at Westmoreland City his attention was attracted by the strange action of two dogs. The canines crouched down beside each other close to the ground. Soon another slightly larger dog trotted by when the pair pounced upon him and after a terrific fight the larger canine was killed. Tired out, the dogs lay down and rested awhile after which they dragged their victim a distance of more than 100 yards, to the banks of Brush creek, where they rolled the body down the bank into a hole in the stream where it reposes beneath the sulphur waters.

TOMORROW, THE BIG BUFFALO BILL SHOW

ON THE CHARLEROI GROUNDS

Tomorrow Buffalo Bill's and Pawnee Bill's exhibition will present in their enormous tented Coliseum the largest and most diversified program ever given since Colonel Cody first introduced the "Wild West," as an amusement institution.

The piece de resistance, is "Pioneer Events in Frontier Days" and adheres closely to narrative, in dramatic form scenically mounted and in size and personal is the most extensive ever presented.

The parting of the curtains discloses untrailed prairies and plateaus, desert wastes and snow capped mountains, with a large band of savages dancing the "Ong' Sha' Re" in the foreground, beseeching the Sun God to grant a year of game and "pale face," scalpe a plenty. The festivities are suddenly broken up when an outpost dashes down the hill and informs the Indians, that an Emigrant train is approaching.

The redmer stealthily conceal themselves behind hills and rocks bent on pileage and massacre. The wagon train unconsciously reaches the concealed hostiles, and in less time than it takes to tell it, a war whoop!—and the pioneers turn their startled faces into the very teeth of the yelling furious horde of merciless demons.

A battle to the death ensues, defeat meaning torture and death for the whites. In the midst of the fearful combat the arena suddenly becomes surcharged with cavalry and plainsmen who rush to the rescue of the settlers. The Emigrant train and its occupants is a typical one and made up of prairie schooners, and other primitive vehicles, of the style of th "49 ers", yokes of oxen, cattle, dogs, and usual accoutrements of the hardy men and women in their "Trek" towards the untamed Eldorado.

The "Far East" has been considerably augmented this year and among the new offerings is "The Meadowbrook Hunt," a facsimile of England's national sport. "Foxhunting," together with Olympian games in which Mr. Fred Gruner the worlds high Jumping Champion, competes with "Juno" considered to be the highest jumping horse in existence.

From Principal to Consul.

Harry B Richardson, late principal of the Bentleyville public schools, Washington county, has been appointed U. S. Consul at Liverpool, England, and expects to sail for his new post of duty on Saturday, June 15th, to be accompanied by his wife and little daughter. Their home will be in the American settlement of Liverpool, and he will act as deputy to Consul Horace Washington, looking after the invoicing of all goods received at that port consigned to the United States, and it will also come within his province to look after the interests of Americans in that locality.

In Defense of the Flag

Constable William Orris, a civil war veteran, of New Castle distinguished himself Decoration morning by demanding admission to a house from the attic of which a red flag floated and hurled it to the street.

A red flag floating above the Stars and Stripes from the Socialist headquarters caused a stir at Muscatine, Iowa, on Memorial day. Henry Boardman, a crippled veteran, climbed a stairway and pulled down the red emblem. His act was cheered by the crowd that gathered.

Ate Almost Anything

An official report of an operation on Miss Letitia Miller of San Rafael, Cal., for the removal of 1,097 articles, mostly metal, from her stomach, says she is on the road to recovery. The report was filed with the State board of control. These articles were removed: 108 wire hairpins, 55 open safety pins, 21 broken pins, 5 prune pits, 23 buttons, 3 collar buttons, 13 nails, 3 screw eyes, 40 tacks, 1 staple an inch long, 5 parts of teaspoons, 425 broken pieces of hairpins, 1 piece of string, 1 piece of thread, 104 unidentified odds and ends, mostly metal: 9 parts of combs, and 280 small pins.

School Bonds Were Sold

One more step has been taken by the West Elizabeth school board towards the new school building that is to be, the bond issue recently authorized by a vote of the people being disposed of. The issue totals $14,000, and the Mellon National Bank of Pittsburgh agreed to take it and pay premium of $112.75. The board will be ready to ask for bids on the construction of the new building as soon as the state board of education approves the plans and it is hoped to have it under way early in the summer.

GARMAN BROS.

418 DONNER AVENUE :-: MONESSEN, PA.

THE BURGESS WAS BUSY

Burgess Reamer had in his presence this morning at police court four distinguished guests from West Monessen. A Gillingham an aged and somewhat distinguished personage was walking along the street yesterday when he chanced to meet his son-in-law I. W. Tresler of the same place and Frank and Charles Laudebeck, brothers. The party had a few swigs together and began to discuss the presidential possibilities and time moved on far too swiftly. Their feet began to get tangled, and soon the whole bunch was run into the police dragnet. As soon as they got in the cooler Tresler began to lament about his wife and babies at home. In fact they all worried a little but they were permitted to stay behind the bars all night. This morning the four were arranged in a row. They were questioned a little and the burgess decided that if they would all go home and tell their wives where they spent the night it would be all off as far as the local court was concerned and that the punishment would be sufficient. They promised and were permitted to walk out free men having paid society the debt.

Hunting and Fishing Grounds

Headed by the editor of a Pittsburgh outdoor publication, steps are being taken to form a Hunting and Fishing Club in the Indian Creek Valley. Seventy five to 100 members will be taken into the club, 30 of whom have already announced their intention of joining. Persons interested are from Pittsburgh. In connection with the Hunting and Fishing club will be started a trout hatchery along the stream, this being for business purposes only. Several hundred acres will be bought near the source of the stream and the ground divided into acre lots. Members of the club will be allowed to buy the ground at a nominal price and erect bungalows. Only members of the club will be allowed to buy the ground.

Tomorrow the Page A. A. team will play the strong Sterling A. C. of Pittsburgh at Page park. A good game is anticipated. Hogg and Underwood will probably be the battery for the locals.

It is already being noticed by rivermen that navigation in the Monongahela river is being carried on with a great deal of difficulty, owing to the low stage of water.

MISSION WORKERS MEET

The Women's Foreign missionary society of the Westmoreland presbyterian of the United Presbyterian Church held its annual convention yesterday in the First United Presbyterian Church of Irwin. The presbytery includes churches in Westmoreland, Allegheny and Fayette counties, and a large number of women attended the sessions today. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. M. J. Stevenson, of Trafford; first vice president, Mrs. Mary Kelly, of Braddock; second vice president, Mrs. E. G. Forrestor, of East McKeesport; recording secretary, Miss A. Pearl Ludwig, of East McKeesport; corresponding secretary, Miss Ida Donald, of Parnassus; treasurer, Miss Anna Patton, of McKeesport. Addresses were made by Miss Flora Jamison, a returned missionary from India; Mrs. Sophia Johnson, of the Freedmen's bureau, and Dr. R. C. Betts, of Braddock.

Interest in Belle Vernon Case

Much interest is manifesting itself in the little town of Belle Vernon today regarding the case of the Commonwealth vs. J. W. Tiley, night patrolman on the police force of that town. It is alleged that Tilev without any provocation whatever struck the reporter of the Belle Vernon Enterprise causing his unconsciousness for several minutes and otherwise mutilating him. There are two stories being circulated in regards to the matter but according to the evidence given at a previous hearing, Tiley was held for court under $400 bond which was furnished. Sensational developments are expected to be uncovered when the court takes hold of the case today.

TOUCHED THEIR SOFT HEART

In the Circumstances, Expressed Hope of Irish Youths Seemed Somewhat Humorous.

Supreme Court Justice Cohalan of New York, who is proud of his Irish blood, also believes that for keen wit and humor no race in the world equals the Irish. The justice spent the greater part of last summer on the "auld sod" and when he came home he had acquired a great fund of funny anecdotes illustrative of the often unconscious humor of the natives he met.

He tells a story of two husky lads who were tenants of the same landowner and who were constantly embroiled either with the man himself or one of his agents. At last things came to such a pass that the two decided to waylay their landlord. They chose a favorable spot along the road over which they knew the landlord must travel that afternoon and crouched in the ditch waiting To beguile the time each told the other a part of the punishment he had devised for the landlord.

Said one, "Oi'll tap him on the head wid me blackthorn and whin he falls Oi'll step on his face an—"

The other interrupted. 'Oi mane to cut off his ears, split his nose an' if he makes a fuss Oi'll slit his weazand"

They kept up the bloodthirsty conversation for some time and at last one noticed the day was almost done and that it was far past the time when the landlord might have been expected to pass He interrupted his sanguinary threats to call the attention of his companion to the flight of time and the non-appearance of the man they expected, exclaiming:

"Och, the poor felley, Oi hope nothin's happened him!"

SET THE PACE IN RECEPTIONS

Splendid Affair Given by United States Ambassador Guild Dazzled St. Petersburg Society.

The German and Russian newspapers bristle with reports concerning an official reception by the American ambassador at St. Petersburg, Curtis Guild, in the splendid palace he occupies, which was formerly the residence of Count Orloff Denison Not even Ambassador Leishman, glittering at the kaiser's court, could have been more imposing. The ambassador had at his side a functionary from the imperial court, who presented the guests The ambassador's wife was beautifully gowned.

The guests were announced by a servant from the imperial ministry, who wore a black suit of eighteenth century style, with a lace jabot.

Mrs Guild was greatly fatigued, for he had to stand three hours with outstretched hand in order that it might be kissed by all the men, according to the Russian fashion

In the great dining hall on the floor above, hung with pictures of the Orloffs of the last three centuries, was a surprise for the guests. Instead of the usual tables with servants serving champagne, there were models in size of a Russian farm house and an American cottage, lit with incandescent lights, from which flowed fountains of champagne. The American cottage fountain bubbled with dry wine, while the Russian emitted a fruity variety.

Real Eugene Aram.

A sale of relics of Eugene Aram reminds us that Lord Lytton's Aram was a very different personage from the man who was hanged at York, who, judging from the published account of the trial, was merely a felon of the lower sort He associated with low companions, married a low wife and practiced swindling with a miserable creature whom in his younger days he was associated with in stealing flowers—for they were both gardeners—and finally murdered him to secure a few pounds, the proceeds of a swindle Aram possessed a vigorous intellect, had mastered the learned languages, had read every classic that came in his way, and, says a distinguished writer, when the learned felon came to make his defense all Britain was astonished by a piece of pleading which, if given to the public among the defenses and under the name of Thomas Lord Erskine, so celebrated this species of composition, would certainly not be deemed unworthy of a collection of its author.

Work For Kings.

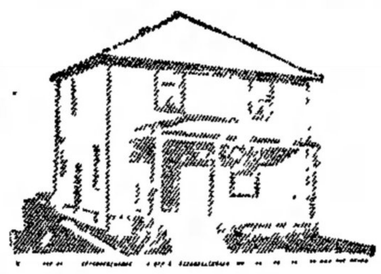
The sphere of foreign affairs is one in which a British monarch, for all his complete subordination to constitutional forms, still exercises real power. Unlike the late king, who was his own traveling ambassador, and whose personality made him welcome in the capitals of Europe, George V. chooses to work through his ministers, but there is every reason to believe that the monarch's views will carry weight in the cabinet. Situated as he is above party, the king may readily work for international friendship and peace without being accused of betraying the country's interests.

Biggest Thing in the World.

"Fighting Bob' Evans," said a naval veteran of Washington, "had, like many fighters, a tender heart.

"Fighting Bob' had a specially tender heart toward children. I once heard him say, as he held his little grandchild's hand:

"A child is the biggest thing in the world. A ragged, emaciated, hungry child is to me bigger than a battleship."



OWN A HOME

It is a big thing for the worker

A MAN who earns his living by his skill and labor should buy a home for his family as an insurance against old age or sickness. The family living in its own home can weather a storm which would drive a "Renter" on the Rocks.

SUGAR PLUM CENTURIES OLI

It Was Invented by Julius Dragatus a Roman Baker, in the Year 177 B. C.

Of all candies, perhaps the "sugar plum" boasts the most ancient lineage. It was the invention of one Julius Dragatus, a noted Roman baker and confectioner, a member of the family of the Fabii.

Dragatus put forth the first specimen of this confection in the year 177 B. C. The bonbons of this variety were called dragati, after their inventor (dragees is French), and their manufacture constituted a monopoly enjoyed exclusively by the Fabian family. Whenever there was a birth or a marriage in that family a great distribution of dragati took place as an evidence of rejoicing. This custom is still retained by certain of the old noble families of Europe.

The pastile is of a far later origin. It was invented and introduced into France by an Italian confectioner, the Florentine Pastilla, a protege of the Medici. When Maria de Medici married Henry IV of France Pastilla accompanied his royal patron to the French court, where his bonbons soon achieved a tremendous vogue. Everybody ate the Florentine's candies. They were offered in all flavors.

Burnt almonds are a confection of purely French origin, owing their inception to the gluttony of a French merchant. One day, tradition has it, Marshal Duplessis-Pralin sent for Lassagne, the inventor of many toothsome dainties, and bade him concoct a new bonbon. Lassagne searched, reflected, combined, until he finally hit upon the confection of burnt almonds, which were baptized with the name of the old gourmet, the French for burnt almonds.

PATHOS OF EATING OYSTERS

It Requires Great Moral Courage to Think of Swallowing One of the Bivalves.

To me the practice of devouring any animal life in its entirety is, and always has been, most difficult. The terrible demand of the oyster is that he be swallowed as a unit, with all his hopes, his joys, his sorrows, his love, his fears, and his ears and his tears; the thought is appalling.

I can eat large slices of a cow, and I suppose in a lifetime I have eaten a number of mature oxen, a few calves, a flock of sheep, several lambs, a number of turkeys, a long roost full of hens, a good sized aquarium, a goose or two and some ducks—but I did not swallow any of them whole. I took a slice at a time and enjoyed it, as my appetite is above the average for most dishes.

I don't mind seeing oysters swimming in a savory stew, I like their society and flavor, but it takes all of my moral courage to think of eating one. Every time I get one of the little bivalves before me my eyes magnify him, he grows larger and larger, an emotional lump rises in my throat and I am obliged to content myself with swallowing my emotions instead of swallowing the emotions of the the oyster. When I look at the little fellow lying helplessly before me, with his slippery surface and yielding body, I think that should I succeed in swallowing him I might have even more difficulty in retaining him.—Albert Scott Cox in the Metropolitan Magazine.

Spring Showers in Old Garden.

"It is a rare delight to wander in an old garden of a late afternoon just after a shower, when the day has been intensely hot and all Nature has fairly thirsted for rain. The flowers have drooped and the leaves curled for want of moisture. Even the birds have sought shelter from the fierce rays of the sun, when, late in the afternoon, suddenly, almost without warning, the welcome rain descends. A quick shower, soon over; and when the sun comes out clear and bright, all unmindful of the wet, you gather your skirts about you and go into the garden to watch the unfolding of the wilted leaves. You lift here and there a flower-stalk which the rain has beaten down; you wonder where the bees have taken refuge from the sudden downpour; you find one in the deep cup of a lily, another in the depth of a gladiolus blossom; farther on you see a rose which should have been added to your rose jar when you gathered in the morning, and as you grasp and pull it from the stem, you feel that sharp stab of pain that only the sting of a bee can give, which tells you that one has sought shelter in the heart of a rose."—Febecca B. Simmons in Suburban Life.

Of What Use Are We?

We sometimes wonder of what use we are, and why we are put on earth. One day is added to another and we seem to be no farther advanced on the pathway of our lives. As Mark Twain would have put it, we do not appear to be gaining on the scenery. Yet there is room in the world, and need in the world, for each and every one of us, and therefore we must keep on going to the end. Emerson has a poem in which the squirrel talks to the mountain says: "If I cannot carry forests on my back neither can you crack a nut." You can do something nobody else can do: namely, live your life. You have your chance, if you will only take it, and I have mine. If we can do nothing else we can at least be some one's friend, and there is nothing that the world more keenly wants and more sadly needs.—Ladies' Home Journal.

That Cow

will produce 100 pounds of milk 60% cheaper on one of our small farms in the famous Sacramento Valley, California, than she will in any of the Eastern dairy States.

And—

the butter-fat which she produces will bring from 4 to 6 cents more a pound.

—N. E. MULICK, formerly of Watertown, Wis.

Mr Mulick was one of the most prominent breeders of Holstein-Friesan cattle in Wisconsin. He purchased one of our small farms and is stocking it with one of the finest herds of pure Holstein-Friesan cattle in the United States. He says:

"The Sacramento Valley is an ideal home for the Holstein cow and I am sure that the dairy world will soon look to this valley for the world's record stock.

"There is certainly a bright future for the practical dairyman in this valley. It is hardly possible to estimate the advantages of dairying in a country where green feed can be raised the year round, as compared with Wisconsin, where they have to stable their stock at least six months in the year."

It doesn't cost much to own one of our small farms—

Mrs. Burns Wadsworth 270 Donner avenue, Monessen Pa., says: "I was in poor health for some time and suffered almost constantly from backache. I was subject to chills and dizzy spells. Knowing that Doan's Kidney Pills were good for kidney complaint, I procured a supply from the Birsch Drug Co. Their use helped me from the first and before long I was cured. I am now enjoying good health and my kidneys do not bother me in the least." (From statement given Oct. 2, 1907.)

A PERMANENT CURE.

Mrs. Wadsworth was interviewed on Nov. 9, 1909 and she said: "The cure effected by Doan's Kidney Pills in my case has been permanent. I have recommended this remedy to my friends on several occasions and all who have used it, speak highly of the results received.

GOOD BILL AT STAR IN OLE OLSON, SWEDE

The Star Theatre was comfortably filled last night to witness the rendition of Ole Olson, the old, but good Swedish comedy drama by the summer stock company and the production gave general satisfaction. This story abounds in comedy and is noted for its dialect work in the character, Ole Olson being a young Swede who finds difficulty in twisting his tongue about the English language, but he always manages to get there just right, with all his native greenness. Each member of the cast in this play have room to display their versatility in the comedy roles, for it is brimfull of drollery and harmless fun throughout. There is a little vein of love, intrigue and family trouble running through the story, and that ignorant Swede boy is always at the right place at the right time to bring a good climax. The part of Ole Olson is taken by Will F. McNulty, and his work is clever. The audience seemed to enjoy the play as it is full of health giving fun and plenty of laughs. Matinee Saturday afternoon and two shows Saturday evening.
